HONGKONG OFFICE: 14, DES VEXES ROAD CL. LONDON OFFICE: 131, FLEET STREET, E.C.

HONGKONG, 25th June, 1901

We have arrived at the usual time when unrest begins to rise its head in China, yet we seem to miss the usual June crop of rumours. Are we to believe that China has had enough of it, and she is imitating the policy of the coon, who cornered in the tree politely asked the huntsman not to shoot—he would come down? Last June the nations of Europe, aghast at the outbreak of barbarism in the North, when they had come to the conclusion to send troops to Peking, one and all looked upon the settlement of the Chinese affair as a thing easy of accomplishment. They had only to send some twenty or thirty thousand troops, the Chinese would not show fight, and in a month or two the whole would be settled, the instigators of the outrages punished, and the country started on a course of reform. After twelve months of success the Powers are just as anxious now to get out of Peking as they were then to get in, and of the hopeful programme then held up for our admiration not one item has been accomplished. The vis inertiae of three hundred millions has proved too much for the united arms of Europe, and like a panic-stricken flock of sheep, it has proved more dangerous to itself than to the shepherds. China has for the nonce won her immediate end, but she has done so by the utter absence of all those principles of self-restraint without which no nation can continue to exist as a power. No one who has seen the conduct of a flock of sheep, when the buildings on the sheepcote have taken fire, can fail to note the analogy with the action of the Chinese in the present crisis. In such a case the first impulse of the flock is to rush into the midst of the fire, notwithstanding all the efforts of the shepherds to keep them out of harm's way. Each individual sheep seems possessed with a demon of self-destruction, and will take advantage of the first opportunity to rush into the furnace; and seeing one escape the shepherd, the others will blindly follow its example, and probably by sheer weight succeeded in forcing a passage through their protectors. This is very much what has been taking place in China. The people and their rulers see with their physical eyes the danger, yet individually and collectively they are so dazed by panic that like unfortunate sheep, their impulse is to rush straight for the all-devouring element. There are those amongst the onlookers who would gladly come to the rescue, but they are borne down by the mere weight of numbers, and in spite of the experience of seeing their fellows one by one caught in the flames and overcome by the most horrible of deaths, they have to stand by while the whole flock immolates itself. It is thus that amidst the panic the only measures that command a temporary hearing are those that lead to still further ruin; and the only statesmen who can obtain a hearing are those whose advice is the most suicidal. The canuch LI LIENYING, the incapable and discredited LU CHUAN LIN, the purblind LI HUNG-CHANG, who can only see Moscow;—these are the men whose example leads the nation on to destruction: while others like LIU KENG-YI, even the aged WAN WANG-SHIAO, find themselves in the wild struggle hopelessly overpowered, or buried in the mass of ineptitude and folly. Nor can we exempt from blame the self-appointed shepherds of the flock, who when the panic was new, and the flock looked for some indication of safety, hesitated till it had passed beyond control—who were bent rather on punishment and revenge than on example, and who lost the precious time when reorganisation was possible in squabbling amongst themselves about questions of petty precedence; and who disclaiming all desire for personal aggrandisement were nevertheless all the while surreptitiously working out schemes of partition—each in his own interest, while as carefully trying to spoil, under pretence of helping the common cause, his neighbour's "little game." When history comes to review the events of the twelve-month in China, the verdict will be one of the utter ineptitude displayed by one and all; and may be summarised in the old nursery rhyme:—

The King of France with twenty thousand men Marched up the hill—and then marched down again.

The opportunity has been given and lost, and to all appearance the last state of China is worse than the first. Meanwhile the one country that has scored any even partial success is the most unscrupulous of all; and we may feel well satisfied if the one fruit of all our toil be not to hasten on the supreme conflict between barbarism and culture, that we had even a year ago fondly hoped had been relegated to the time of our grandchildren, if not postponed, like a too knotty point in court, sine die. Russia, it is true is at home in evil case, but, as in the days of the Empress CATHERINE, it is under such cases that Russia is most dangerous to her neighbours. In this instinct has taught her a similar lesson to what it has France, France however, learnt the lesson too well, and in the case of NAPOLEON III well nigh brought his country to destruction; we can only hope that a like result will follow the pursuit of similar tactics by the unscrupulous Court surrounding the well-meaning, but insufficiently strong NICHOLAS II.

On Sunday night the British transports Lalpogon and Nurani left for Taku.

H. M. S. Hermione, which arrived yesterday, was flying the homeward bound pennant.

The meeting of the Legislative Council summoned for to-day at 3 p.m., has been postponed sine die.

Nurse E. S. Gray, the first of the nurses engaged to work in connection with the Hongkong Nursing Institution, arrived in the colony by the last English mail.

Owing to a hitch in the operations, the attempt to raise the sunken dredger Canton River has had to be postponed, and it is expected that it will be made before Thursday.

Apart from plague last week, the cases of communicable disease reported in the colony were only two, both of enteric fever—one European and one Chinese. No deaths were reported.

The Chief Justice will deliver judgment at the Supreme Court this morning at 10.30 in the special case, the Attorney-General v. Sarah Jacques, which was heard before his Lordship on the 14th inst.

Colonel The O'Gorman, Deputy Assistant Adjutant General in Hongkong, is, with Madam O'Gorman, leaving the colony at an early date for England. Colonel O'Gorman's term of service expires on the 30th inst., but the date of his sailing is not as yet definitely settled. He will be succeeded by Major Hamilton, King's Own Scottish Borderers, a staff officer of considerable experience. Major Hamilton, whose last appointment was that of Acting Adjutant General in the Presidency District of India, is due to take up the duties of the office left vacant by the retirement of Colonel O'Gorman on 1st July. The departure of Colonel The O'Gorman and his wife will be regretted by their many friends in Hongkong, who unite in wishing them bon voyage. They travel, it is understood, by way of the Trans-Siberian Railway.

Hanoi is suffering from a plague of beggars, both professional and actually indigent.

Yuan Shikai's mother, who died at Chiananfu on the 16th inst., was 70 years old.

A Havas telegram, dated Paris, 17th June, says that the Ministers at France are agreed upon the sources from which the indemnity money is to be raised and as to the manner of realisation.

L'Echo de Chine, discussing the proposed remedies for missionary troubles in China, repudiates the idea that France can ever give up her role of protectress of Roman Catholic missions. As for the suggested "mixed courts" to settle disputes, our contemporary says: "We hope never to see a (Roman) Catholic missionary sitting in any mixed court whatever."

Considerable friction has occurred in Shanghai between the Recreation Ground Committee and the Polo Club, nearly culminating on the 15th inst. in a fight, according to the local papers. The trouble arose over the action of the Polo Club in erecting a match and rail which they reserved for honorary and playing members, which the Recreation Ground Committee held to be an infringement of the public rights.

Readers will perhaps have noticed in yesterday's "New Advertisements" an appeal to any friends and acquaintances of a Mr. Homer C. Streeter, an American citizen, recently engaged in mining business in the Philippines, who came to Hongkong in serious ill-health and died at the Government Civil Hospital on the 18th inst. Such friends and acquaintances are requested to communicate with the U.S. Consul at this port.

Major Cesar Nerazzini, Grand Cross of the Crown of Italy and Officer of the Order of St. Maurice and St. Lazarus, who arrived at Shanghai by the Kiauchow has taken charge of the Italian Consulate-General. Major Nerazzini who was formerly a doctor in the Italian Navy, is not a stranger to Shanghai, having visited the port on the staff of the Duke of Genoa when the Duke came there in command of the Vettor Pisani some twenty years ago. The King of Italy has conferred on Signor E. Ghisi, the predecessor of Major Nerazzini, the rank of Honorary Consul-General, and has appointed him Commander of the Crown of Italy, in recognition of his services to his country in Shanghai.

The Japanese subjects who were ordered by the German authorities to leave the Carolines last February have made a statement of their case, the Japan Mail says. They claim that they were very harshly treated, not being allowed to offer any explanations to the authorities nor given sufficient time to wind up their affairs. It is alleged, on the one hand, that they were engaged in a commerce interdicted by Germany; on the other, that no reason existed for their expulsion except the hostility of German local merchants who found their competition inconvenient. They plead that had the former accusation been the cause of the trouble some kind of investigation must have been held, whereas they were driven away without any inquiry.

The Sin Wan Pao says that the famous "Coal Hill" at Peking, north of the Palace, is now daily crowded with sightseers. The various kiosques have been somewhat damaged, and a bronze image of Buddha has been tumbled down off its wooden frame. There are scattered about the grounds numerous tablets, and photographers are seizing the opportunity of photographing these, a rare opportunity which will probably never recur. There is also a still rarer object upon the walls of the Forbidden City, which is also being recorded on the lenses of the photographers. This is a Boxer proclamation in the name of Prince Chuang Kang Yi and others. It says: "All the foreign devil hells have now been burnt, and the devils have now no place to hide themselves. If any one aids them to hide away, he will be killed without mercy. If any one searches out a man, and hands him over he will receive 50 taels, a woman, forty taels, or a devil child, thirty taels. They must be real foreigners, and upon inspection made the rewards will be paid at once. If any one desires to help the military funds let them forward their money to Prince Chuang, and after peace is restored they will all be duly rewarded."

In a letter written from Peking in March, but only published in the Times of the 22nd, Dr. Morrison, speaking of the thorough way in which the Allies looted in Peking, says:—In one of the small rooms (of the Imperial Palace) occupied by the Emperor one curious relic has, however, been overlooked, which ought to have had a peculiar interest for the Russians. It is a piece of silver plate, representing Russia the Liberator restoring freedom to the Bulgarian people. It was originally made by order of the Tsar Alexander III for presentation to the Sobranie at Sofia, but before its completion Prince Alexander of Battenberg had left favour in the eyes of his Imperial kinsman, and the gift was never forwarded to its contemplated destination. But in 1897 an opportunity was at last found of putting it to a new use, when Prince Ukhomsky was sent out with presents from the Tsar to the Son of Heaven. The date and inscription were altered, and, though many of the Bulgarian accessories still betrayed its identity, it was passed on to the Emperor of China as a symbolic representation of Russia the Liberator restoring to him the Liao-tung peninsula! If the Emperor Kwang Hsu has any sense of humour he must have appreciated the grimness of the joke when Russia the Liberator relieved him a few months later of all further anxiety about the future destinies of Liao-tung.

There are to be two battalions of German troops kept in garrison at Shanghai, with cavalry and artillery.

The coffin containing the remains of Baron von Ketteler was to be shipped in the German transport Palatia, which was expected to leave Taku on the 21st inst.

A Peking letter states that Prince Chun, charged with his mission to Germany, will sail for his destination in the German Mail steamer Bayern from Shanghai on the 26th July.

The water polo match at Kowloon last night between the V. R. C. and H. M. S. Janus resulted in a win for the latter by three goals to two. The play on both sides was indifferent.

L'Echo de Chine of the 17th inst. publishes a plan and the rules of the Hanoi Exhibition of 1902. The date of the opening of the Exhibition has been postponed, to the 3rd of November, 1902, when it will coincide with the completion of the bridge over the Red River at Hanoi, and the inauguration of the first line of railway. The Exhibition is to consist of three sections:—1. France and her Colonies, 2. French Indo-China, 3. The Countries of the Far East.

Dr. Arthur H. Smith, who has been residing for some time in Tientsin, has met with the misfortune of the dislocation of his right arm by a jirricksha accident, but says the N.-C. Daily News, with its characteristic resourcefulness—as he uses a typewriter—he remarks "that need not affect the most of my hand-writing." We trust it will not, as he is at the present time preparing a work that is much looked forward to, his book on the subject of the Chinese disturbance, of which he has been a very real observer and withal one whose whole life has been in peril in connection with it, having been one of the besieged in Peking.

On Sunday night, Mr. C. B. Buyers, Superintendent of the Peak Tramway, who has but lately returned to Hongkong from a holiday, met with a serious accident. It occurred as he was about to board a tram in motion near the Peak Station. Missing his footing, or misjudging the speed at which the car was approaching, he was forcibly thrown off the car and against the fence. The impetus carried him over the fence, and he fell a distance of about 15 feet. On being picked up he was conveyed to the Peak Hospital and found to be suffering from a severe injury to the head, a fractured collar bone and a damaged rib. Mr. Buyers is, however, progressing favourably, in spite of his numerous injuries.

A Shanghai Mercury correspondent wrote on the 23rd May:—"If the inhabitants of Chungking are still impressed by the present condition of things, they must conclude that it does not pay to drive out the foreign devils, for there are now more foreigners in this city than at any period of its past history. There is a sense in which it may be said that Chungking is crowded with foreigners, and more are coming." We are glad to learn from the same source that the Acting Consul has refused to grant passports to single ladies desiring to pass on into the interior, having, it is said, received orders from Peking to that effect. Lately he has gone further and practically forbidden wives to accompany their husbands. On the other hand, he does not object to male missionaries going forward even to the most distant and inaccessible parts.

THE NEW TRAMWAY SCHEME.

It would appear as though the days of the ricksha are numbered. In our advertising columns yesterday appeared a notice to the effect that it was the intention of the promoters of a company, "to be hereafter incorporated under the name of the Hongkong Tramway Electric Company, Limited, or some other similar name," to apply to the Legislative Council for a bill to authorise the construction of a tramway within the colony. It was not to be expected that a British possession so commercially prosperous as is Hongkong should be content for always to leave its vehicular traffic on the lower levels in the hands of coolies. Other settlements in the Far East may be willing to suffer the existence of such primitive methods of street transportation (though Shanghai is apparently not one of these), but there is no reason why Hongkong should be one of these, and it will doubtless give general satisfaction that the initiatory step in the introduction here of western methods of street passenger traffic has been taken. The promoters of the proposed tramway are the Yangtze Valley Company, Limited, of London, and their agents in Hongkong are Messrs. Shewan, Tomes & Co., 14, Des Vexes Road Central. The line will be a thoroughly modern one, and will run through the town from east to west, the chief line of route being by way of the Old Praya. It is too early yet to publish details, as the bill authorising the construction of the tramway has to be first passed by the Legislative Council and then sent home to the Imperial Government for approval. Immediately that approval has been gained, the work connected with the laying down of the line will be proceeded with at once. As at present contemplated, the line will extend from the Rope Works at Belcher's Bay and Shaukiwan, the village lying on the other side of Quarry Bay, and should the results be satisfactory, it will be extended further in both directions. The line in the outskirts of the city, where traffic is not likely to be congested, will be a single one, but it will be duplicated in the vicinity of the City Hall. The cars are to be constructed with a view to meeting all climatic exigencies, and will run every few minutes. As we have said, the step is an important one, and will doubtless meet with the unqualified support of all residents in the colony. As to its necessity, we have on many occasions previously insisted on this.

SUPREME COURT.

Monday, 24th June.

IN CRIMINAL JURISDICTION.

BEFORE SIR JOHN CARRINGTON, Kt., C.M.G. (CHIEF JUSTICE).

COUNTERFEIT COIN CASE.

Pang Lun was charged on four counts:—(1) selling counterfeit coins, (2) uttering counterfeit coins, (3) having three or more counterfeit coins in his possession, and (4) uttering counterfeit coins.

Mr. J. J. Francis, K. C. (instructed by Mr. K. W. Mouney), who appeared for the defendant, intimated that his client pleaded guilty to the third count—possession—and that the Attorney-General was willing to accept that plea and not to proceed on the remaining counts of the indictment.

Mr. Francis said the defendant did not make it a business to sell counterfeit money, and that it was only after considerable time and difficulty the prosecution could get together what little money had actually been sold. His Lordship, said Mr. Francis, would have noticed that the money was not being sold as false money, but as refuse or useless money, which was apparently to be sent to Canton to be melted down. The defendant, before he handed it over to the purchaser, wanted to chop it up. Under all the circumstances of the case, Mr. Francis desired his Lordship to avail himself of the powers given him under section 35 of the Ordinance and fine the defendant, further binding him over in his own recognisances to keep the peace.

His Lordship—Is your client able to pay a considerable fine? Mr. Francis—No, my Lord, he is a poor man. It would be a totally different thing if the master of the shop were before you.

His Lordship—The shop people ought to pay his fine.

Mr. Francis—I am afraid there is no legal means of compelling them to pay it. It was with great difficulty that the necessary expenses for the defence were obtained.

The Acting Attorney-General had no objection to the course proposed by Mr. Francis, and the defendant was fined $500, to be paid forthwith, in default of which he would be imprisoned for nine months with hard labour. He was further bound over in his own recognisances of $500 to keep the peace and be of good behaviour for a period of six months.

ATTEMPTED LARCENY—CASE WITHDRAWN. Lam Shek Young was charged with attempted larceny at Tai Hom village on 14th May. He pleaded not guilty, and was defended by Mr. E. H. Shack, barrister-at-law (instructed by Mr. K. W. Mouney).

The following jury was empanelled:—Messrs. W. A. Sims, W. Hardwick, J. S. Ezeckiel, S. F. de Rosa, A. M. R. Pereira, M. Meyer, and J. Benjamin.

The Acting Attorney-General said the complainant in the case was a Chinaman—a farmer living at the village of Tai Hom, near Kowloon City. On the evening of the 14th May, about nine o'clock, the complainant was in his house when he heard a noise on the roof. He picked up his rifle, and looking up through a hole that had been knocked in the roof, and through which poles were thrust, saw some four or five men on the top of the house. The complainant fired his rifle, and two of the men, apparently sliding down the poles into the complainant's house, bolted through the front door and escaped. The complainant had gone for the police, and at twenty minutes past nine Sergeant Kent, in charge of a party, arrived. They searched the house, and on the roof the complainant found a chopper, which he handed over to a Chinese constable. The complainant, Mr. Follock explained, did not profess to be able to identify any of the robbers, but evidence would be brought forward by the prosecution to show that the defendant was connected with the chopper. One of the Crown witnesses was a blacksmith carrying on business in Kowloon, and he would tell the jury that he sold the chopper to the defendant on 14th May—the night of the attempted robbery—at six or seven o'clock, some two or three hours before the affair took place. The defendant had denied that he actually bought the chopper, but he appeared on his own showing to have been in the shop when it was purchased. The jury would also have to consider the fact that when he was arrested—two days after the attempted larceny—the defendant was wearing a pair of trousers which had stain of blood upon them. The stains were undoubtedly those of blood, but the Government Analyst was unable to say whether the blood was recent or whether it was human. One point he had omitted to mention, said the Attorney-General, was that when the complainant fired his rifle one of the robbers fell from the roof in attempting to make his escape, and sustained an injury from which he ultimately died. It was possible that the blood on the defendant's trousers might have been caused by his attempting to rescue the injured man, who, although unable to move, was found some distance from the house. After hearing the Attorney-General, his Lordship, addressing the jury, said he thought the case was altogether too weak to go before them. There might be grave suspicion against the defendant, but that was not enough, and he would ask them to return a verdict of not guilty. The jury were unanimous in finding the prisoner not guilty, and he was discharged. This brought the Sessions to a close.

THE PLAGUE.

During the 48 hours ending at noon yesterday there were reported 33 fresh cases of plague (32 Chinese, one European) and 35 deaths (34 Chinese, one other Asiatic). Last week's figures were:—155 cases and 152 deaths; 115 of the cases were in the City of Victoria, 40 outside. The figures for the year are now:—1456 cases (1386 Chinese, 46 other Asiatics, 24 Europeans), and 1389 deaths (1348 Chinese, 32 other Asiatics, 9 Europeans).

The fresh European patient is Mr. Johannes Wacker, an assistant in the firm of Messrs. Carlowitz and Co.

Mr. D'Agostini, of H.M. Naval Yard, who was taken from Beaconsfield Arcade at an earlier stage of the epidemic suffering from plague, Albert Chunyut, engineer on the s.s. Haiting, and Francisco Blos, a Portuguese who was taken to the Plague Hospital from his residence in Bridge Street recently, have all been discharged as cured from Kennedy Town. All the other Europeans still under treatment are doing well.

Mr. Isidoro Francisco Leon, secretary of Messrs. Campbell, Moore & Co., Ltd., died on Sunday night, it is rumoured, of plague, at his residence, 37, Cause Road. His funeral took place yesterday at 4.45 p.m., and was attended by his many friends.

We regret to learn that Mrs. Primrose, wife of Capt. Primrose, who had been residing at Wild Dell, has contracted the disease. She was taken to the Kennedy Town Hospital at an early hour last night.

HOIHOW.

[FROM OUR CORRESPONDENT.]

18th June.

RE-HOISTING THE FLAG.

The British flag, which has not flown in Hainan for 14 months, was re-hoisted on May 28th at the British Consulate. Its absence during that time has not been due to any cessation of friendly relations between the British and Chinese Governments, but to the fact that owing to the abandonment of the old and the building of the new Consulate there was no place where it could be hoisted until the new buildings had been completed. These being now finished, and the fine flagstaff, 100 feet high and weighing over two tons, having been successfully erected, the flag was re-hoisted by the Consul and the sound of many crackers and the congratulations of both Chinese and foreign residents. The new flagstaff forms a conspicuous landmark in Hoihow. In the evening the Consulate grounds were prettily illuminated with red, white, and blue lanterns; and in the course of a speech which he made during a dinner given by him, Mr. Werner, the British Consul, said that he thought all must agree that, on the whole, the British flag had been on the side of truth and justice, and of the oppressed against the oppressor. But flags were signs of division—often of hostile division; they showed this sometimes in the symbols they bore—lions, tigers, elephants, eagles, fierce dragons, etc. He looked forward to a time when all the nations of the world would be united under one flag, and work together for the cause of peace and civilisation; and he thought that the best flag for that purpose would be the flag of Jesus Christ.

NO PLAGUE.

Though the districts to the east and west of Hoihow have been seriously affected, Hoihow itself has this year escaped anything which could rightly be described as an epidemic of plague. The severity of the disease last summer may account for the present immunity.

SATURDAY'S SHOOTING MATCH.

VOLUNTEERS v. NON-VOLUNTEERS.

NON-VOLUNTEERS.

A rifle match came off at Tai Hang Range, Causeway Bay, on Saturday afternoon, between teams representing Volunteer and non-Volunteer members of the Hongkong Rifle Association. As we were not favoured with the official report, we give the scores alone. The conditions to the match, as already stated, were similar to those of the Interport match—ten men seven and six, seven shots at each range (200, 500, and 600 yards), with two sighting shots. The result was a win for the non-Volunteers by 50 points. Appended are the scores:—

SWATOW.

[FROM OUR CORRESPONDENT.]

Swatow, 22nd June.
THE FANTAN GAMBLING MONOPOLY.
A syndicate residing at Canton has farmed from the Viceroy the monopoly for fantan gambling for the whole of Kwangtung province at the large sum of $1,800,000 for one year only. The afore-mentioned syndicate has sub-leased the monopoly for the local prefectures of Chaochow, including Swatow, Kiatingchow and Huichow, to a few local gentry for the sum of $329,000. This is the first time in the annals of the above districts that gambling has been legally permitted, and its attendant evils are now beginning to be felt.

THE CONSEQUENCES.

Although gambling dens have existed here for a considerable time, they could on the least complaint be made to close up; but now complaints are of no avail whatever. Since legal permission has been extended to it, gambling has become a public nuisance and a great loss to the native merchants. Of late when employers of Hong have been entrusted with money for transmission to various places, instead of delivering the money at its destination they have often gone and lost it all at the gambling dens which are now scattered all over the place. With a view of abating this evil, the native merchants collectively sent a petition to the soliciting his interference. This worthy, however, returned the petition to the merchants, having written across the petition that gambling is legally permitted and that he is powerless to do anything.

CHINGHAI MAGISTRATE

MERCHANTS' ACTION.

In view of the above decision and with the object of preventing further losses to themselves, the merchants' guild convened a meeting at which three resolutions were adopted, viz:—

1.—Any Hong wishing to adhere to these three resolutions has to sign same to the effect that if any member of the Hong be reported to frequent gambling dens, the informer thereof to be paid the sum of $20 by the Hong concerned.
2.—If an employee be dismissed from a Hong for gambling, such employee is not to be engaged by the other Hongs who have entered into this agreement. Breach of this rule entails a fine of $200.
3.—The above-mentioned rules are merely for the guidance and mutual protection of the Hongs, and the various merchants are invited to sign the agreement so as to minimize the gambling craze.

A FOREIGNER SUFFERS LOSS.

A local doctor who employs a native shroff for collecting payment of bills has been defrauded by the latter to the tune of about $70, the greater part of which the shroff lost in gambling. He cleared out before the fraud was detected. On having had the gambling dens pointed out to him, the doctor complained to his Consul, who recovered about $800.

A NEW LOTTERY.

By sanction of the Tao-tai, who no doubt gets his squeeze, a new lottery has been established here since last month, and there are to be regular monthly drawings.

GERMAN COMMERCE AND INDUSTRY.

The Colony Gazette last month devoted a long article to the purchase of the Atlas Line by the Hamburg-American Company and of the Leyland Line by an American company. It is admitted that the British mercantile marine is so vast that a mere diminution in the number of its ships is not a very serious matter. On the other hand, the English flag is being driven from certain trade routes, and the question is asked why British owners prefer to part with their ships instead of making them pay by a management as enterprising as that of foreign purchasers who can afford to give such large prizes for them. It is pointed out that the North-German Lloyd, which two years ago bought the fleets of the Scottish Oriental Steamship Company and of the East India Ocean Steamship Company has not been content to conduct the service of these lines as it had previously been conducted, but has hastened to improve it by adding new vessels, so that the value of these commercial fleets is now far greater than when the North-German Lloyd took them over. It is understood that the Hamburg-American Company intends to deal in the same way with the Atlas Line.

Although the Colony Gazette dismissed in a spirit of self-congratulation the acquisition of British steamship lines by German companies, it does not forget the simultaneous port of American enterprise in the same sphere. It finds consolation in the thought that the German ship-building industry has attained a position which challenges comparison with any other in the world, and that German officers and seamen enjoy a training which is, perhaps, unrivalled. The recent establishment of training ships for the mercantile marine is expected, according to the organ, to provide a supply of ship officers superior to those of any other nation. The only fear to which expression is given is that the predominant influence of the Agrarians may result in a short-sighted commercial policy, which would paralyse the activity and the enterprise of the German seaport towns.

An article in the Russian Svet directs attention to the expansion of German influence in Belgium and Holland, to the propaganda of the Brussels journal Germantia among the Flemish population, and to the alleged Pan-German movement in favour of the inclusion of Holland in the German Zollverein. The Svet asserts that a prominent Belgian politician who was recently in Berlin came to the conclusion that Germany desired to destroy the commercial independence of Northern Belgium and to secure an outlet to the sea at Antwerp and Ostend.

In reply to these insinuations, the Berliner Neueste Nachrichten reminds its Russian contemporary of the existence and of the extraordinary prosperity of Hamburg and Bremen, and further anticipates that the port of Emden will have a great future in the development of German shipping. "Germany is therefore in a position to make further conquests in the carrying trade without going beyond her own frontiers or encroaching upon the spheres of other States."

AN EFFICACIOUS CURE FOR PLAGUE.

TO THE EDITOR OF THE "DAILY PRESS."
Coast Fort, June, 1901.

Sir,—For the sake of humanity I hope you will kindly allow me a small space in your columns to bring to the information of those who have to deal directly with plague cases in particular and of the public in general a treatment of this fell disease which I have found to be most efficacious. I beg to state most distinctly that I have no pretension to the slightest idea of medicine, but whilst I was in Hongkong I heard from a man of experience of the treatment which I am about to make generally known through the medium of your paper. I had then good grounds to firmly believe in the good results attained; I could not, however, attempt to bring the facts before the public because of the anger which I would provoke amongst the local practitioners, and because of the consequent persecution which would be started by them, for they will not allow any treatment of diseases outside the pale of their science, and consequently the man who, not belonging to their clique, pretends to try his hand at doctoring, must necessarily be an ignorant and a fool who should at once be run down.

Now that I am in a coast port beyond the reach of the Hongkong professionals, I have tried the treatment without fear of persecution or prosecution for doing so; for I have tried it on Chinese, and have had the satisfaction of saving many lives.

Now, to come to my purpose. As soon as any symptom of plague is apparent, give the patient a hot bath, as hot as he can stand; then give him a tablespoonful of pure red olive oil every three hours, in the morning giving him a friction of heated olive oil on the body every hour or so.

This simple treatment has proved efficacious in many cases, and a fair trial will not make twenty-five deaths in twenty-four cases surely.—Yours, etc.

A PUBLIC NUISANCE.

TO THE EDITOR OF THE "DAILY PRESS."

Sir,—Permit me to use your columns to draw the authorities' attention to a great nuisance and a danger to public peace. I refer to the great number of Japanese loafers who seem to have made Hongkong the field for their rowdy and indecent behaviour.

Within the past week I have noticed two cases in the Police Court reports, one for disorderly conduct and resisting arrest, the second of assault on a little girl, only two-and-a-half years of age, and on two animals.

I myself have noticed night after night a score of these loafers perambulating Wellington Street, and adjacent roads, knocking against peaceably disposed Chinese, insulting their women, and even walking up and staring insolently into the faces of European lady pedestrians.

These men are ostensibly employed (so they claim) by various Japanese firms, while in fact they are nothing but Ship Street runners, the sum of Japan, living on the earnings of their unfortunate countrywomen residing in that locality, and between times making themselves as obnoxious as they possibly can to the respectable classes of the colony.

This thing ought to be stopped, for the Government has the power, and ought to exercise it, of deporting such undesirable sojourners from the colony. Instead of fining these vagrants when arrested on some misdemeanour, the magistrates ought to be instructed to deport them, since the Japanese Consul seems unaware of their existence. In Shanghai the Japanese Consul will not even allow his countrywomen of light character to settle there. Here we have not only them, but their agents. I think this matter ought to be looked into by the authorities.—Yours, etc.

GOLD AT LEITH: WAS IT IMPORTED?

The recent discovery of gold at Leith created a great amount of public interest, and the "gold fields" have been visited by large numbers of people. The excavations where the most recent finds were made are at a spot some 200 yards from the hospital, where traces of gold were first discovered. This ground was formerly covered by old dilapidated buildings, but, some years ago, under the Leith Improvement scheme, these buildings were cleared away. Working-class dwellings-houses are to be built on the site. The soil is of a sandy nature, and the previous metal was found in particles embedded in soft friable stone under a bed of sand and gravel about nine feet from the surface.

Local geologists were unanimous in the opinion that there is nothing in the strata of the neighbourhood to indicate the presence of auriferous deposits. Though compelled to admit that gold had actually been found, they were at a loss to explain its presence, and could only look upon it as some freak of nature.

A gentleman who has written several works of local historical and antiquarian interest gave an explanation, which is considered the most feasible yet put forward. There is a tradition that about 200 years ago a then well-known local man, George Heriot, imported several cargoes of ballast, in which gold was found, and out of which he made a considerable fortune. It is known that the ballast was put down in the neighbourhood where the recent discoveries have been made, and it is conjectured that it is this ballast which is now being unearthed. It is quite likely that, with the primitive methods then in vogue, all the gold may not have been extracted from the quartz, but geological and historical authorities are agreed that it is extremely unlikely that the precious metal would be found in payable quantities. Specimens of the quartz have been eagerly sought after as curios.

Tubby—"Ah, begorra, Pot, if I get up first in the morning, I'll chalk it up on your door." Cranks—"Well, if I get up first, I'll rub it out."

POLICE COURT.

Monday 22nd June.

BEFORE MR. HAZLELAND.

ILLICIT OPIUM.

Several Chinese were prosecuted by Excise Officer Spooner for having opium in their possession and selling the same without a certificate. The fines ranged from $2 to $25.

TIERED CHAIR COOLIE.

Mr. Cunningham, Manager of the Daily Press, prosecuted one of his chair-coolies for refusing to obey orders and being absent without leave.

Complainant stated that at 8 p.m. on the 19th instant, he had a visitor, who as he was leaving desired that a coolie might go down to the chair-station with him. Complainant told his boy to tell defendant to accompany the gentleman. Defendant refused on the plea that he was tired, though he had only done 40 minutes' actual work on that day, taking complainant from his residence to the business office and back again.

On the night of the 21st, at 8.30 p.m., complainant wanted to despatch a letter, and sent for defendant, who was found to be absent. Complainant was then told by his boy that the coolie had gone to do outside chair-work. Defendant admitted himself when questioned that he did outside chair-business.

On Sunday at 5.30 defendant again refused duty, and was sent away. Yesterday morning he came back demanding his wages, and refusing to leave the premises, complainant gave him in charge.

His Worship in summing up said that there were two charges, viz., refusing to obey a reasonable order given to him by his master, and secondly, leaving without giving adequate notice. On each count defendant would have to pay a fine of $5 or go to prison for 14 days. His Worship added that the Chinese servant nuisance was becoming intolerable.

BEFORE MR. KEMP.

THEFT OF GRANITE.

A Chinese was charged with unlawfully removing stones from a quarry at Tsat Tze Mai, belonging under lease to the quarry-farmer Tsan King.

Mr. Hastings, of Messrs. Deacon and Hastings appeared for the complainant. Mr. Geo. J. W. King, Bailiff of the P.W.D., produced the Quarry Bye-laws, signed by the D.P.W., and Tsan King, the quarry farmer and showing the portion of quarry land leased to complainant.

Piu Kin, an employee of the complainant, testified to the fact that he saw defendant and his folk remove stones from the place where only Li Tai had a permit from his master (complainant) to quarry stones. He saw them put the stones into a boat.

Tsan King, the quarry-farmer told the court, at the request of Mr. Hastings, that he had leased the portion of quarry land shown on the plan, and possessed the exclusive right to quarry stones from there or issue permits to others to do so, who had to pay him a certain royalty, and that without such permit no one was allowed to remove stones therefrom.

Mr. Waters, in charge of the exporting of stones from the quarry, also stated that he knew defendant removed granite without permit from the area comprised in the quarry-farmer's lease.

Mr. Hastings, addressing the Court, said that defendant was charged with larceny of the granite in question. To prove the charge it must be proven that he had no right to remove the said stones. That Tsan King, his client, had the exclusive right to the quarrying of stones and granting permits, was quite clear, also that complainant was entitled to all the profit he could make by granting such permits. It was also proved by evidence that without such permits and a payment of royalties, no one was allowed under any circumstances to remove stones. It has been proved that granite has been removed by defendant without such permit, and he asked his Worship to inflict an appropriate punishment.

The offender was sentenced to one month's hard labour.

THEFT OF 10-INCH GUN WHEEL.

Chang Fat was charged with stealing the gearing wheel of a 70-inch gun at the Army Ordnance Stores. Accused was charged to have picked up the wheel on the shore, thinking it to be useless old iron. The court, refusing to consider this specious plea, sentenced him to three months' hard labour.

For burglariously entering No. 23, Peel Street, on the 17th inst. and robbing therefrom various articles to the value of $50 a Chinaman was sentenced to four months' hard labour.

U. S. COALING STATIONS.

A Washington despatch says.—The policy of our Government as to acquiring coaling and naval stations in foreign countries differs according to the nations concerned. In Cuba, we have been making a point of having a complete cession of territory in such instances, so that there shall be no cloud upon our national sovereignty. But we have coaling stations in Japan and Mexico, and in neither have we any actual ownership of the soil.

The Japanese station is at Nagasaki. Its history goes back to 1866, when, in response to the demands of some of the leading nations of the West, the Mikado's Government set apart a strip of land for a foreign concession, dividing it into lots or parcels for the several Powers interested, and handing over two of these to the United States. Japan did not vest the actual title in us, but gave us what is known as a "permanent lease," with all the insignia of sovereignty, and subject only to a nominal ground-rent amounting to about $80 a year in our money. The sole condition under which the leasehold lapse would be our refusal or neglect to pay the rent. Having no immediate use for the site, the Government has until lately permitted the Pacific Mail Steamship Company to occupy it—the Company relieving the Government of the annual payment. The Spanish War convinced our naval authorities that we needed coaling stations all over the world; so the Steamship Company was notified of the suspension of its privilege, and the Government proceeded to fit up the quarters for the coal.

It cannot be said that the Japanese Government has regarded our latest move with much enthusiasm. Japan has coal to sell, but it is inferior to ours in quality, and costs a good deal more, measured by effectiveness as fuel. Merchants can use it sometimes under their boilers, but it does not answer for swift manoeuvre. We find it cheaper in the end to send our own coal over the long sea route to Nagasaki, pay Japanese duties on it, maintain costly storage facilities and take upon ourselves the labour and expense of loading and unloading, than to buy the product of the Japanese mines at first hand. We have accordingly sent out one shipload of six thousand tons, and have another on the way by Magellan Straits. The accommodations are ample for eighteen thousand tons.

Should war ever break out in such a form or in such waters as to menace our coaling station at Nagasaki, it might become necessary for us to obtain a complete cession of title. Japan bids fair to remain our friend and ally for a long time to come, so that no fears are entertained of trouble at her hands; but there might be a war in which either Japan or the United States had a direct share, which would make the present arrangement embarrassing to one nation and perilous to the other.

A like gradual process of acquisition has been going on in the case of the Mexican station, which is at Pichilique Bay, near the south end of the lower California peninsula. The place is so insignificant, geographically speaking, that it does not appear on the popular maps of the world. There was no settlement close to the point which the United States Government thought best adapted for naval coal storage, but in 1869 the nearest local authorities were limited up, and an easy bargain driven with them. A rough shed was thrown together, the coal was brought around the Cape as convenient and dumped there, and a watchman hired at moderate compensation to keep his eye on the property. As the coal was authentic, no weather-tight housing was needed for it.

Again upon the war with Spain emphasized the need of something more ambitious in the way of a coaling station. Before spending any money, however, our Government decided to procure from the Government of Mexico some recognition of the rights of the United States in the premises where the coal was stored. The negotiations were long and tedious. The Mexicans looked with suspicion upon any project for our acquisition of territory from her for martial purposes. Every overture of the Department of State was met by some pretext for postponing consideration of the subject, but our representatives kept their tempers and patiently picked up the threads of correspondence whenever the Mexicans dropped them. At last a bargain was closed, and the federal authorities of Mexico gave the same consent that the local authorities had given nearly a dozen years before. In this instance, as at Nagasaki, the terms of the concession are such that we are substantially sovereign of the little patch of soil covered by our naval coaling yard; and, as Mexico has no navy, it probably would not be much of an undertaking, if trouble should ever arise between the two republics, to run into Pichilique Bay and seize our coal by force. Still that is a contingency which no one foresees now. Before such a breach occurs, we may have gradually acquired all the rights we can make any use of.

In the case of Cuba, it is said in behalf of the Administration, that the conditions would not permit of our obtaining our naval and coaling stations by degrees. The danger of trouble is not so remote there as in the other instances, and the Washington Government insists that it must clear the path of menacing possibilities before it lets go its hold upon the island—in other words, while it is still in a position to dictate terms.

PEKING: EXTENSION OF THE FOREIGN SETTLEMENTS.

A joint Proclamation issued by the Ministers Plenipotentiary of the various Powers, accredited to the Court of Peking, for the information of all whom it may concern.

Be it hereby known that we, the Ministers Plenipotentiary above named, having presented certain matters to the Peace Plenipotentiaries have now received the consent of the Emperor of China to the same, by which it has been arranged that no Chinese shall be allowed to reside within the area containing the Foreign Legations.

The boundaries of the said Legation Concession Area are as follow:—
(1) The southern boundary line marches along the foot of the city wall to the Chien-men gate, thence to the foot of the Hui-gate. All houses immediately in the vicinity of these two gates, as well as those leaning against the city wall outside facing the south, are to be included within the said Legation Concession Area.

(2) The eastern boundary line begins at the Hui-gate, thence to the Great East Tower (Ta-chieh) to the Eastern Single Memorial Tower, North of the Pa-shih-man-tang.
(3) The western boundary line commences from the Chien-men gate, northwards following the foot of the city walls of the Imperial City, thence eastwards to the East Ching-gate, thence again north to the foot of the wall of the southern part of the Imperial City.
(4) The northern boundary line starts from the foot of the wall of the southern portion of the Imperial City eastwards to the corner of the said Imperial City, thence turning to the north, behind the Erh-shih-man-tang, north of the Eastern Single Memorial Tower.

It is hereby required that all Chinese hitherto residing in the area contained within the above noted boundary lines shall remove from thence. As for the houses and land thus given up by the said owners, the said Foreign Ministers have already consulted and arranged with the Chinese Government to settle the prices to be paid for the said houses and lands in a just and impartial manner for compensation of said owners. In this connection, owners of houses and land shall be required to present their documents and title-deeds at the General Council House of the Foreign Ministers, situated in the Shamoo-street, for inspection. Should it happen that owners have lost their title-deeds and other documents they are permitted to petition the matter to the said General Council House, explaining the circumstances, giving the location with particulars of the boundary lines of the said property and all other important matters concerning the same.

The owners of all houses and lands within the Legation Concession Area must also each bring with him two other persons, who shall not only be witnesses but also guarantors that the title deeds, etc., produced by the alleged owners are bona fide and genuine documents; and they shall also guarantee the truth of all allegations made by the said owners. After having made all careful and necessary examination into said claims, the within-named Foreign Ministers shall decide upon just and equitable prices, so that the said owners may obtain whatever may be the right value of their properties under the circumstances. Having determined upon the same to be paid, the said Foreign Ministers will demand these monies from the Chinese Government.

Now be it known that beginning from this date of the issuance of this proclamation a limit of thirty days, that is to say, to the 8th day of the 4th Moon (24th May) will be given to the owners of the said properties to present their title-deeds and documents or petitions thereon to the said General Council House in Shamoo Street. If it should turn out that false title-deeds have been presented, or that false owners have appeared with claims to property not belonging to them, and such like attempts at fraud, or there may be collusion with witnesses to perpetrate frauds, as soon as these are found out the severest punishments will be dealt out to the culprits, and no leniency will be exercised.

ENGLISH AND CHINESE DICTIONARY.

WITH THE PUNTI AND MANDARIN PRONUNCIATION.

For comprehensiveness and practical service this work stands unrivalled. All the new words which the Chinese have of late years been compelled to coin to express the numerous objects in machinery, photography, telegraphy, and in science generally, which the rapid advance of foreign relations has imposed upon them, are here given in extenso. Each and every word is fully illustrated and explained, forming a service for students of a most instructive nature. Both the Court and Panti pronunciations are given, the accounts being carefully marked on the best principle hitherto attained. The typography displays the success of an attempt to make the Chinese and English type correspond in the size of body, thereby effecting a vast economy of space, achieving a clearness not previously attained, and displaying with those vast margins and vacant spaces, which have heretofore characterized Chinese publications.

To illustrate the vast scope of the work the following facts are submitted for consideration:—Chalmers' Vocabulary contains about 16,000 Chinese characters, and Medhurst's English and Chinese Dictionary about 100,000 whilst this work contains more than 50,000 English words, and upwards of 900,000 Chinese characters. Again, despite all the grammars and other elementary works as yet published, the student of this difficult language absolutely requires examples to display the various applications and equivalents of different words, which have on general meaning. Of these examples this work contains more than five times as many as any other Dictionary hitherto published.

For practical purposes the arrangement of the work is so complete that a reference to its pages enables a person who understands English to communicate effectively with natives who understand nothing but Chinese. In this respect the work will be found indispensable to all Europeans residing in China, and to the natives themselves it explains subjects fully with which they are not so familiarly acquainted. To parties resident in England and interested in China it cannot but be invaluable occasionally.

A MILLIONAIRE'S HOBBIES.

Probably no more interesting personality has been brought before the public for many years than that of the late Sir William Cunliffe Brooks, against whose estate of some £300,000 claims are being made to the extent of £800,000.
As will be remembered, the case is now being tried in Edinburgh, by which the claimants are endeavouring to prove that his chief residence was Glen Tana, near Aberdeen.

In 1874, Sir William Brooks was called to the Bar. At the death of his grandfather, however, he relinquished his practice and became a partner in the great banking firm which bears the family name. In 1879, the celebrated Glen Tana estates first came into prominence and it would seem that many of his later eccentricities showed promise of their future appearance soon after he acquired the property. Properly spelt, the second word of "Glen Tana" takes a final "r." But to suit his English ideas as to the fitness of such matters, he deemed that this "r" should be struck off. When Sir William first rented the property from Lord Huntly, the house was merely a small fishing-box. So he immediately set to work, and practically rebuilt it, pulling down a great deal of small property to make room for the new manor. From that time to the date of his death, 200 workmen were constantly employed in turning the one-time wilderness into a magnificent place of residence.

According to Sir William's own estimate, he spent regularly £20,000 a year upon the property; and this, exclusive of the £150,000 which is stated as having been the initial price of the purchase. In place of the cottages which he destroyed, others, replete with every modern convenience, had to be erected; the course of the river was deflected to form miniature lakes and cascades; trees were planted, and in one case £10,000 were paid by the eccentric millionaire for the "wood" of a forest so that by their becoming his property the trustees would be unable to sell them to timber merchants to be cut down. In short, the whole of the neighbouring countryside has undergone a complete transformation at his hands.
Even the deer-forest has not escaped "improvement." Within quite a short time of his occupation Sir William encircled its vast limits with a wire fence seven feet in height, which was constructed in such a way as to allow deer to enter, but not to leave it. Among his tenants he was exceedingly popular. To their trifling troubles he seems to have lent a sympathetic ear. He even went so far as to keep himself fully informed as to their condition when either in London or upon the Continent.

To enable him to do this, he established a system of secret espionage, paying gillies and keepers weekly wages for this purpose. Sums thus expended he invariably termed in his cheque-book "spectacle money." An instance of this has come to light during the recent litigation, in which the man referred to acted as piper, carpenter, clerk of the works, and general manager combined. In addition to his salary of nearly £3 a week, he was given £20 a year as "birthday money," £15 for acting as organist in the private chapel, and £10 as "spectacle money." He was never so happy as when stalking in the deer-forests, accompanied by his favourite keeper, Donald Mackintosh.

And of these two men, several amusing anecdotes are told. One of them relates how Mackintosh found a big rock in the Tana waters, and said to Sir William that he would very much like to have it placed upon his grave when he died.
As the same idea had already occurred to Sir William, he announced that "Masters should come first and servants afterwards." The keeper, with the customary license of old retainers, promptly disputed the point, and after a lengthy argument, induced his master to agree that the first one to die should have the stone. Poor "Mac" died first, and the rock now forms the head-stone of his grave. As further illustrating the relations which existed between these two, the story is recorded of an incident which happened while they were travelling in the Far East. Upon the quay where they had landed, Sir William suddenly stopped short and asked Donald whether he had any money in his pockets. "Lord, no," replied the unsuspecting gillie, pulling out a handful of gold and silver from his pocket.

"Here's as much as'll do for a day or two."
Whereupon Sir William, without a word of warning, flung out his hand and scattered the coins over the quayside to the evident consternation of his canny companion. Nor did he lose the opportunity of reading him a long lesson on the foolishness of thus wantonly exposing one's wealth to the gaze of possible criminal eyes. Sundays seem to have been the customary days for Sir William Brooks' tour of inspection around the property. He would give lavish orders for the building of houses and cottages—after his own designs principally—and would refuse to look at them, until they were fully completed. He would then go round, and either praise the result or, should he not like it, order it to be at once razed to the ground. Another eccentricity lay in his love of inscriptions. If you pleased him you were promptly presented with a card containing some queer quotation written in red and blue chalk. These colours, by the way, soon became regarded as distinctive of the man.

The interiors of the cottages he built, the doors of his rooms, and the ceiling of his diningroom at Glen Tana, were all covered with strangely illuminated mottoes. Although an Englishman by birth, his heart and soul seem to have been centred on the banks of Tana water. He dressed his dependants in a tartan of his own invention, and gloried in the "pipes" that called him in the morning and played to him after dinner at night. For Mr.
Ian Ceall, his heir, he had a great affection,
and is said to have cautioned him against drink,
and to have induced him to sign the pledge.
Not that Sir William was an abstainer himself;
for this he was not. In fact, so proud was he of his port, of which he had a renowned cellar, that he frequently referred to his bottles as his "babies." Visitors to the estates were generally surprised to find curious carvings, bearing equally curious inscriptions, dotted about in out-of-the-way places. These find explanation in the fact that, wherever a deer was shot, Sir William ordered a monument, bearing full particulars as to weight and date, to be erected. In addition to deer-stalking, however, Sir William took a keen interest in salmon-fishing, and as the Tana is only a trout stream, he rented a portion of the Dee. Apart from these sports, his ideas of exercise seem to have been somewhat curious. It is related that, like the men who chartered two oaks and walked between them, our eccentric millionaire used to make the coachman drive his trap while he himself ran behind it.

THE NICARAGUA CANAL.

The Times correspondent writes on the 19th
May from New York:—Mr. John W. Foster has come forward as the spokesman of the Jinco faction, which means to abrogate the Clayton-Bulwer treaty next winter by vote of Congress.
Mr. Foster, who has been Secretary of State and Minister in Russia and elsewhere, has long been notorious for his enmity to England, and is skilled in that type of diplomacy which is more remarkable for shrewdness than scruple.
He now says that it is idle to contend that a nation of 76,000,000 persons is bound by a treaty made when it numbered only 23,000,000.
The maintenance of the Monroe doctrine requires the abrogation of the treaty. England, which is not a faith-observing country like the United States, has had ample notice that the United States intend to violate the treaty, and cannot, therefore, for settling difficulties with Canada, that commission has not been dissolved but adjourned, and is likely, according to reports from Washington, again to meet at an early date, and again endeavour to dispose of the outstanding questions between Canada and the United States, including the most troublesome of all, the Alaska boundary. Mr. Foster is still a member of the commission, and stands, therefore, close to the Administration, and though he does not, in the usual matter, speak for the Administration, he has held, and still holds, a position which makes his influence on public opinion extremely influential. The fact that he was the author of an insulting dispatch to Great Britain on Behring Sea matters did not prevent his re-employment by the State Department. Nor will his preaching of the doctrine of diplomatic immunities diminish his authority with the canal party in the Senate or the country.

Nicaragua seems to be excited by the reports that this Government is considering the purchase of Panama. Her Minister gives out statements that he holds that the United States is bound by the treaties with Nicaragua, although the most recent depended expressly on the Hay-Panama treaty. Nicaragua at any rate is ready to concede everything except absolute sovereignty over the territory through which the canal shall pass. But then so is Colombia.
